

Heaven AND Earth WORKSHOP

Are farms the places where heaven meets earth? In this workshop, Professor Dan McKanan of Harvard Divinity School, Steffen Schneider Director of Farm Operations at Hawthorne Valley and Claus Sproll Program Director, AdminInstitute will follow diverse spiritual communities as they go back to the land by creating church and school gardens, establishing ecovillages, celebrating the sacraments with the four elements, practicing carbon farming, and participating in the global food sovereignty movement. Dan will trace the spiritual history of organic agriculture, identifying the spiritual teachings of Rudolf Steiner as one seed of the movement and highlighting the ways practitioners of many spiritual paths have collaborated since the very beginning. Hands-on sessions with farmers and gardeners will introduce participants to farming practices that reach everyone who eats and should be part of a farm community. This workshop will show you how.

COST $125 Registration and $100 when registering 2+ from the same organization

MEALS Available at the Hawthorne Farm Store

ACCOMMODATIONS There are many options around Hawthorne Valley — from bed and breakfasts serving farm-to-fork meals, to camping and cabins, to motels and hotels. Visit us online for a few suggestions at <https://hawthornevalley.org/contact/accommodations/>

REGISTER & PAY To register & pay online visit <http://admininstitute.net/workshops/heaven-earth/>
OR fill out the registration form below and send a check payable to: AdminInstitute 317 Church Street Phoenixville, PA 19460

DATE April 7th & April 8th 2018

LOCATION Hawthorne Valley Farm, NY

PRESENTERS Dan McKanan, the Senior Lecturer at Harvard Divinity School focuses his research on religious movements for social transformation in the United States. His newest book, Eco-Alchemy: Rudolf Steiner's Anthroposophy and the Environmental Movement, has been published by the University of California Press. Steffen Schneider, director of Farm Operations at Hawthorne Valley, has been a Biodynamic practitioner since 1983, He has given workshops at numerous conferences and also teaches the Biodynamic Course at the Pfeiffer Center in Spring Valley, New York. Claus Sproll, AdminInstitute.

First Name
Last Name
Address
Phone Number
E-mail	